Thanks to your generosity, Team Bennet is thrilled to share that we hit our New Hampshire Investment Strategy goal and saw some of our best fundraising days over the past week! It’s clear that the American people are still searching for the candidate they believe will be the best person to take on Donald Trump, and the funds we raised will allow us to continue to compete in the Granite State and position us well to build on the momentum we are seeing there.

Since hitting our goal on Thursday, we have:

- Expanded our New Hampshire ad buy, placing “Opposite of Trump” on more screens throughout the Granite State
- Released new videos in our “Just The Truth” digital ad series
- Prepared to unveil a brand new TV ad in New Hampshire that will hit the airwaves tomorrow — so stay tuned!

Team Bennet has seen weeks of momentum culminating most recently in hitting our New Hampshire Investment Strategy goal, picking up key endorsements, turning out packed crowds, and Michael completing 38 of his 50 town halls commitment in the final 10 weeks leading up to the primary.

Just this week, Bennet for America has picked up three new endorsements in New Hampshire!

New Hampshire State Representative and former Cory Booker endorser Bob Backus and former Concord School Board Chairs Claudia Damon and David Ruedig endorsed Michael’s campaign for president.

ON THE ROAD
Michael was joined by a special guest this weekend on the trail, Caroline Bennet! Michael and Caroline zig-zagged across New Hampshire, rallying at the New Hampshire Women’s March and meeting Granite Staters in living rooms, libraries, and community centers to make the case for why Michael is the best candidate to beat Trump and begin governing again for all Americans.

While in New Hampshire, Michael also met with the New Hampshire Union Leader and the Seacoast Media Group where he demonstrated his record of working across the aisle to get things done and showed how he’ll lead from the White House to restore opportunity. The meeting prompted the New Hampshire Union Leader to write an article highlighting Michael’s momentum in the Granite State and the compelling economic argument he made against Trump.

The Seacoast Media Group also wrote an article highlighting Bennet’s approach to governing and how he will overcome a broken Washington.

With stops in Portsmouth, Bow, Manchester, Concord, and Merrimack, this weekend, Michael is now 38 events into his quest to hold 50 town halls in the final weeks before the February 11th New Hampshire primary.
Yesterday, Michael was in Des Moines for the “Iowa Brown and Black Democratic Presidential Forum,” where he made the case for his Plan to End Poverty, which would be the most progressive reform since Medicaid.
Among other policies, Bennet’s plan calls for an expansion of the Child Tax Credit, which would cut childhood poverty by nearly 40% in just one year, according to Columbia University, and give working and middle-class families a real boost—all for the cost of 3% of Medicare for All.

IN THE NEWS

Michael wrote a response to last week’s Democratic debate in The Washington Post, emphasizing that for all the talk of electability, no one on the stage brings his experience or agenda to the race—both of which make him the best candidate to beat Trump and actually make progress for America’s families.

Michael also penned an op-ed in the Des Moines Register where he explained how, as president, he will create a constituency for change in America to overcome the broken politics in Washington and make lasting progress for workers and families.

Michael went on Fox News this weekend to tell Donald Trump—directly—about his economic failures:

> “Since I know that he gets most of his talking points from this network, I want to say while I’m on this network that the country is creating jobs at a slower pace today than when Barack Obama was president. If we were creating jobs at the same pace that we were when Barack Obama was president, we would have a million more jobs today than we do. That’s the Trump jobs gap.”

A new POLITICO profile out last week highlights Michael’s growing campaign. Excerpts include:

- Gary Hart, Former Presidential New Hampshire Primary Winner: “What I think New Hampshire has revealed many times over, including in my ancient case, is that an awful lot of the voters do not make up their minds until the last seven to ten days.”
- James Carville, Famed Democratic Strategist: Carville sees Bennet as a soothing moderate who can not only beat Trump but also convince people wearing red “Make America Great Again” hats to take them off... “Look, if this horse ever got out of the pen, I mean, it would run wild. It's hard to get out the pen. But we'll see.”
ICYMI: James Carville also went on MSNBC last week and said, "If Michael Bennet is the Democratic nominee, you’re going to get 55% of the popular vote and pick up 55 Senate seats, and it will be the end of Trumpism."
